Benefitting the Kansas City Free Health Clinic <<<

Join medical students from Kansas City University of Medicine and Biosciences, University of Missouri-Kansas City and University of Missouri-Columbia in this great opportunity to bring healthcare to the uninsured. The Kansas City Free Health Clinic removes costs for patients who don't have access to the regular care they need and is staffed by volunteer physicians from the local community. The clinic encounters over 47,000 patients every year — very frequently those suffering from diabetes.
